Platform for Start-ups, Universities and NGOs

Following the overwhelmingly successful launch of experience.science.future. at IFAT 2018 in Munich, the future platform is now coming to India!

It provides innovative start-ups, universities and NGOs a cost-effective and unique opportunity to present themselves to a wide audience. Incorporated in the Active Learning Center, IFAT India's hub for interactive formats, participants can expect an attractive stand concept, excellent networking opportunities and plenty of interested visitors and young professionals alike!

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Eligible as exhibitors are all companies that have existed for less than ten years and that have successfully passed the seed and foundation stages. All exhibits must correspond to the IFAT India product index and should feature innovative details or ideas. Minimum requirement is an available prototype or a product / service that is already commercialized.
